Sigma Breakthrough Technologies, Inc. (SBTI) Announces Partnership with Argea

San Marcos, TX, July 5, 2007 - SBTI is pleased to announce our partnership with Argea as we continue serving our client's domestic and/or global needs. As seasoned practitioners, we were drawn to the seasoned practitioners at Argea and their track record of working at client locations in 15 countries. Together we can help you achieve greater business success.

Argea is a recognized leader helping clients improve business processes, shared service operations or outsourcing business processes (BPO) and IT (ITO). In June 2007, the Black Book of Outsourcing, the definitive guide for assessing customer satisfaction in the outsourcing industry, published by the Brown-Wilson Group recognized Argea as one of the "Top Ten Global Boutique Advisory Firms".

Argea's leadership team consists of accomplished practitioners with deep experience in the specialized practice of outsourcing, enterprise operations, business process excellence and change management. The practitioners include one of the founders of GE's offshore service delivery centers (now known as Genpact), the former North American head of Outsourcing for PwC and the former Managing Director of ITO for JPMorganChase. They can provide the analysis, planning, implementation integration, management services and leadership necessary to execute your domestic or offshore sourcing.

Argea's Exceptional Practitioners deliver Exceptional Results in:

- * Process Consulting Services for business processes and IT
- * Outsourcing Consulting and Implementation Services for BPO (Business Process Outsourcing) and ITO (Information Technology Outsourcing)
- * Shared Service Center Consulting

Argea works with Fortune 1000 and mid-sized companies. Argea has been recognized by professional organizations as one of the few consultancies who can provide the specialized practice and skills devoted to helping mid-market companies capture the advantages of effective outsourcing.

Argea can help you from assessment and strategy development through implementation and governance. They share SBTI's philosophy and transfer the necessary knowledge and expertise into the client's companies to assure sustainable improved business performance and Exceptional Results.
